

SC Interfaith Harmony Month at the State House

SCHAC Deputy Commissioner, Dan Koon speaks about the importance of observing Interfaith Harmony Month

Event: On December 29, 2021, SC Human Affairs Commission's Community Relations Division team attended the reading of Governor Henry McMaster's Proclamation of SC Interfaith Harmony Month at the State House. Interfaith Harmony Month will be observed starting January 1 through February 7, 2022, for South Carolinians throughout the state to host and attend interfaith events.

Background: The mission of Interfaith Partners of South Carolina is to bring together people of diverse religious, spiritual, and secular paths throughout our state to cultivate a more harmonious community. If you or your organization plan on hosting an interfaith event in your community, please visit their "Events" tab on their website below to add it to the statewide calendar.
