

Cecil Williams' South Carolina Civil Rights Museum

On the Top Left- Cecil Williams;
On the Bottom Right- Community
Relations Division posing for a photo
after the tour

Event: On Wednesday, February 9, 2022, SC Human Affairs Commission (SCHAC)'s Community Relations Division toured Cecil Williams' South Carolina Civil Rights Museum in Orangeburg, SC.

Background: Cecil Williams is an Orangeburg native who is famous for his photography during the civil rights movement in South Carolina. His work has been published in hundreds of books, newspapers, and television documentaries.

The Cecil Williams South Carolina Civil Rights Museum is the first and only civil rights museum in the state and was founded in 2019. The museum holds artifacts and photographs from the civil rights era.

For more information on the museum and to schedule a tour, visit <https://www.cecilwilliams.com/>