Director

Event: On January 25, 2020, The SC Human Affairs Commission (SCHAC) attended Community Leaders Institute (Institute) at Greater St. James A.M.E Church in Jedburg, SC.

SCHAC Community Relations & Outreach Division provided the attendees with information about SCHAC at their information fair. SCHAC explained how they can assist with improving the quality of life for everyone in their community.

This Institute focused on the unique relationship between environmental protection, human health, environmental justice and economic development.

A critical factor in the success of community development is a well-informed community. “Action” occurs when those with authority assume an informed and active leadership role. The purpose of this Institute is to help these leaders know how to access and obtain the information necessary for making good decisions, and then communicate that information to the citizenry.
